

Profile

I am a Junior Front-End Developer with a passion for coding. I have an active mind, and am committed to my professional development. My creativity is balanced with strong analytical skills, giving me a flair for functional layouts and design. I love to work collaboratively, sharing ideas and knowledge.

I am currently finishing a coding bootcamp with Zero to Mastery Academy, and have taken several extra courses alongside this, including topics such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript and Responsive Design. I have completed several small projects which are available on my GitHub.

Technical Skills

HTML and CSS

I write quality and concise HTML and CSS. I am forward thinking and aware of the big picture such as responsive design, scalability, analytics, and anticipating potential issues.

JavaScript

Good foundational knowledge of JavaScript (ES6–10). I have a feel and understanding for the language, and a passion to learn more and become an expert.

HTML Emails

I have experience of designing and developing engaging and responsive HTML/CSS emails which are compatible with most popular email clients and campaign platforms — Outlook, Apple Mail, Gmail, Hotmail, MailChimp, Campaign Monitor, Sendy, and so forth.

Personal Skills

Learning and Development

Keen and quick learner dedicated to continual self-improvement

I am a driven and enthusiastic student, who quickly picks up new processes. I challenge myself to keep up to date with the current standards and best practices, and continually learn and improve as a developer and a person.

Organisational

Strong organisation skills, accuracy, and attention to detail

I have an inquiring mind and an analytical and ordered nature. I love problem solving. Finding the most efficient route through a task gives me a sense of accomplishment. I live by daily and weekly planners, and love to be organised.

Communication and Team Working

Exceptional communication and interpersonal skills at all levels

Previously, I have worked in many customer-focused roles in many diverse working environments. I enjoy working in a collaborative team environment. I have excellent communication skills, and am a flexible and adaptable team player.

Creativity

Creative thinking and vision with the ability to see the big picture as well as the details

My natural creativity gives me a wider perspective and helps me find innovative ways of solving problems. I have an eye for design and style, as well as the functionality of a product.
